God, given His bad reputation, must be banished from the universe. This highly improbable arrangement surely cries out for an explanation, not a truism. What distinguishes this new breed of unbelief is, in part, its vehemence and vitriol. It won't change. For example, Mormonism is based on indemonstrable historical claims and relies heavily on subjective experience to verify. At Christmas, I didn't know how to be there for my mom as she talked about Grandma "now Part One with Jesus. When returning home from overseas, you expect to be brutally strip-searched by Customs – just in case you're trying to sneak in fruit. Atheists are often guilty of this fallacy with respect to God. This is what philosopher Dallas Willard calls "big bang mysticism". Let me think this .
