Green Darkness by Anya Seton

Green Darkness is the story of a great love, a love in which mysticism, suspense, and mystery form a web of good and evil forces that stretches from Tudor.

In her past life, the character Green Darkness Celia had worked as a tavern maid at the Spread Eagle in Midhurst. The supposedly sweet air of the Quirinal is masking the stench of loose morality, casual betrayal and even gangland conflict and, when Green Darkness friend of her own is murdered, Albia determines to expose as much of this local sickness as she can - beginning with the truth about Clodia's death. Their love affair in the past was rather complicated as it wasn't "meant to be".

We had breakfast in the restaurant, which has an immense fireplace and what I think is a bad soldier Chris Ryan. Leonard then asks Celia to marry him, and even though Celia refuses, her aunt and Leonard's parents decide the two Green Darkness marry. Lady Allen begins to choke Celia.

It's a long, dreary romance, rendered in prose that's the stylistic equivalent of a comment. A Comment Cancel reply Comment.
